GLOUCESTER, MASS. (April 2021) – As spring gets underway, the Cape Ann Museum is offering its popular outdoor walking tours that focus on the city's architecture, history, and famous artists who called Gloucester home over the years. With continued concerns about COVID-19, the 1½-hour tours in downtown Gloucester offer participants a safe and engaging way to learn about the rich history of Cape Ann. Each tour is led by a knowledgeable Museum docent who will guide participants through the city.

Cape Ann's storied light, its natural beauty, and its rich cultural history had a significant impact on the many American artists who worked or lived on Cape Ann. On the Edward Hopper and Fitz Henry Lane tours, participants will visit places and observe the same views of the harbor, beaches, homes, and churches that each artist translated into remarkable works of art.

A new three-mile, two-hour walk into Gloucester's Historic Dogtown will look at the early settlements and the mystique of the large forested area in the center of the city that has captivated visitors, hikers, writers, and artists since the last house came down there more than 200 years ago.

The "Bones of Homes" walking tour explores the city's architectural styles and history, and a new tour, focusing on "The Fort" section of the city is also planned. Tours are continually updated and added on the Cape Ann Museum's website: <https://www.capeannmuseum.org/events/walking-tours-gallery-tours/>
